FAVORITES WERE ALL BEATEN.

Keith & Patton Pulled Off a Good Thing When Kate Freeman Was First Past the Post.

Even the wise guys can make more money with the pick and shovel than they can picking winners at the Fair Grounds these

There is absolutely no form to the races The horses that are starting in the events do not run two races allke. It is not expected of them. The races offered for decision were as hard to solve as Chinese puzzles. The bookies were at sea as to the selection of favorites, and the betters were in the ocean.

Good things could be had for the asking The things were plentiful, but all were not good. At that the ring was given a scorching on Kate Freeman, and Glen Lake was well backed. Not one favorite passed the judges in front. The choices were beaten as though it was coming to them.

Van Dusen was up on Mountain Dew and Grantor, two of the favorites, Jockey and Grantor, two of the favorites. Jockey Van must have left his knowledge of riding at home when he went to the track yesterday. His rides on these horses were so different from some of those with which he startled the spectators of late. Formmaker Fletcher said Mountain Dew had bad racing luck. Pat was so interested in Billy Bruen's starting that he failed to follow the horses after they passed the barrier. Neither Mountain Dew nor Grantor was Neither Mountain Dew nor Grantor was ever dangerous.

It was surely a day of startling reversals and abominable rides. Julietta B., the favorite for the fifth race, did much better than any of the other choices, thanks to Dominick's untiring efforts. At that she was not a legitimate choice. It was the good-thing crowd that sent her to the post at such a short price.

was not a legitimate choice. It was the good-thing crowd that sent her to the post at such a short price.

Monday Dominick had things his own way. Yesterday he gave way to Dale, the promising light weight, of whom Trainer Hugh Baker expects great things. Dale started with a victory. He missed out in the second and third, but came strong at the end and copped the last three. He did not have any close finishes, but deserves much credit for the waiting ride he put up on Glen Lake. In the third, Dale was on Innuendo. He lost by a nose at the end as Percy R. ridden by J. Mathews, was pounds the best horse in the race. Jesse cased him up and drew a close finish.

Eleven beagles started in the hunt for the first purse. The whole outfit could have been purchased for the money that was bet on Mountain Dew in any one of the dozen books. Starter Bruen did himself proud by getting the bow-wows off together. Dale on Mona B. hurried his mount along, and, after making the pace all the way, copped by two lengths. Van Dusen was playing chess on the favorite. The race was over before he made his move.

Kate Freeman, a likely looking filly, by Freeman-Kittle R., from Keith & Patton's stable, landed the second race, and it is said that her owners and their friends are several thousands richer in pocket as the result. She was only lightly played at the said that her owners and their friends are several thousands richer in pocket as the result. She was only lightly played at the track, but commissioners throughout the country got the big checks down in the poolrooms. Dominick was astride the good thing. After several false breaks, in which he saved her nicely, he was off in the first flight when the start was finally effected. Ponitary made the running but Isominick flight when the start was finally effected. Bondary made the running, but Isominick took command at the head of the stretch. He had to shake up the filly at the end to stall of Deloraine's rush.

Henry of Frantsmar, favorite for the third race, was badly jostled about by Frost. When straightened out for home he came on by himself and was running over his horses at the end. He was much too late, however, as Percy R. put it on Innuendo by a head. Randazzo, who was four lengths behind the second horse, skinned the choice by a nose.

Denny Sullivan has a pretty fair sort of a

Denny Sullivan has a pretty fair sort of a colt in Glen Lake, the winner of the fourth race. The Imp Glenelg youngster was in with Laureate, Ladas and Eugenia S. He opened at 5 to 2. while Laureate was quoted at 6 to 5. Glen Lake was a hot one. In a twinkling of an eye be was backed to 8 to 5, while Laureate receded to 3 to 2. Dale got off well with Glen Lake and rated him alongside of Laureate to the stable turn.

to 5, while Laureate receded to 3 to 2. Dale got off well with Gien Lake and rated him alongside of Laureate to the stable turn. He made his move here and then there was nothing to it but cashing. Laureate tired under the weight, but made a game bid for the place at the end.

Seething, the natural favorite for the fifth race, made the good thing, Julietta B., look sick when the piach came. The latter, cleverly handled by Dominick, was all out after the long route. With anything like a good ride Pirate's Daughter could not have been beaten for second place. May took the filly all over the track.

Ned Wickes and Grantor carried the money in the last race. Neither was prominent at the finish, although Wickes was prominent during the early part of the journey. Grantor was a disappointment. He never showed speed at any part of the route. Eight Bells, well ridden by Dale, lay along the rail going up the back stretch, and after squeezing through on the stretch turn she come on by herself. All Comers in the Qualifying Round - Miss Anthony Also Out.

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 28 .- There was a great gathering of expert women golfers at the links of the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club to-day, where the qualifying round was played of the woman's fifth annual championship, under the auspices of the United States Golf Association. Miss Beatrix Hoyt, who has won the gold medal cach year, beginning with 1896, for the best score in the qualifying round, again achieved this honor. She won both medal and the championship in 1896, 1897 and 1898, but after winning the medal last year she was beaten out in the first round at match play by Mrs. Caleb Fox, who, by the way, has qualified this year, and if they should both win their matches to-morrow they will meet each other again on Thursday in the second round of the match play. The fact of Miss Hoyt winning the gold medal is by no means a guarantee that she will win out at match play. According to the luck of the draw there are some very good matches in store for to-morrow, as Miss Griscom plays Mrs. Manice, Miss Underhill meets Miss Rogers, Miss Hoyt meets Miss Parrish, who is no mean opponent, Mrs. Fox meets Miss Livingston and Miss Hecker meets Miss Wickham.

batters were facing Young for the final scene, with the score of 3 to 0, this twirler with the good arm, who had held Hart's of those hair-raising finishes that always delight the heart of the fan. Childs had made three hits before this inning opened, but this time he was thrown out on a grounder to McGraw. Kelster juggled Mertes's scorching attempt and Danny Green was then given a base on balls, the first gift of the game. Ganzel, following the example set by the preced-ing batsman, hit a liner to Young's feet, which caromed over near first, and every pillow was stuffed.

Ganzel had to silde to reach the base and hurt himself in doing so, and had to leave the game. Bresnehan, one of Loftus's new players, was put in to run for him. Dexter hit far into left field, but it was caught by Burkett. On this put-out Mertes scored. Bradley was the next man up and he demonstrated that he was able to take care of himself by dumping a bit which fell just back of third base, where neither McGraw, Burkett nor Wallace could get, although each tried. This scored Green and ad-vanced Bresnehan to third. One more was all that was wanted, but that one never came, for Bresnehan fell into a little trap laid for him with all the innocence of a beyed orders and made a gallant attempt to reach the base, but the ball was there efore him, and the last hope of the Chicago team had gone soaring. Heidrick was responsible for the first score that St. Louis made. After two strikes had been called on him he landed on one of Griffith's curves and sent it toward McCarthy. When the fielder turned to run he slipped down and what would have been an casy out if it had not been for the acci-dent was stretched into a three-bagger. From here he came home on Donovan's out, Another was made by the visitors in the elenth and the last in the ninth, the forme being made on a couple of singles and some luck, and the latter on a couple more sin-gles and some more luck.

Peter Nolan, quite well known all over the West as a big better and all-round turfman, and, in his day, as a crack amateur boxer of Cincinnati, who was conceded to have a good chance with John L. Sullivan had he cared to, is now conducting a modest breeding farm at Greenville, Ill.

Mr. Nolan lives next door to Johnny Huffman and Tom Hurns, who own farms at that place. Nolan is very enthusiastic over his change from the turmois of the betting ring and the city to the peace and quietude of the vales of Illinois,

"All that we lack," said Mr. Nolan yesterday, "is social intercourse such as makes the city so attractive. In every other way we have the city beaten to death. Now I speak as a born and bred urbanite, who lived in the city from the day of my birth till very recently. I find the country charming. Between Hurns, Huffman and myself we manage to get along famously, but I wish we could get a little community of turfmen and old sports up there, fellows who have saved a bit of money and would like to have something certain and sure for their families, yet enjoy a turn at the like to have something certain and sur-for their families, yet enjoy a turn at the gloves, a game of ball, an extempore pool game or a whirl at the races now and

They have not had the heacht of training in keen business competition as city men have had; they have not trained, competent minds and do not know how to apply themselves to anything in such a manner as to find out its best merits in a short time. Of course there are some who do, but as a rule they never figure, never count profit and loss, actual investment or anything else. Though it may sound strange, I think the city man has the farmers beaten a long way at their own game. Old-Timers in Hicycle Races.

The programme arranged for the bleycla meet at the Pastime track next Sunday afternoon includes a one-mile novice, one-mile handicap, one-mile open, two-mile multicycle handicap, three-mile handicap, and one-mile for the anateur State champlouship. The races are attracting more attention every day, as it has been some time since the cycling contingent has had a chance to pull for its favorities on a local track, or any track, for that matter. Another old-timer has entered for the races who hids fair to equal the record that Fitzsimmons has made in the ring for the length of time that he has engaged in athletic contests. This man is George Tivy, v.b.o has been winning bicycle races hereabouts for the past tweive years. Thy always makes the youngsters hustle, though, and as he is in great shape at present he is liable to wear the champtonship medal away from the track next Sunday evening. Among the others who are entered are Jake Weldner, Alex Laing, Bob Orr, Wentworth Steele, Eddie Grath, Ernie Ernst, W. C. Brownfield, Carl Bohnson, Wheatley Chandler, James Orr and Mark Stanley. In case of rain the races will be postponed until the following Sunday.
